

Theo van der Krogt

Dr. van der Krogt studied sociology at the University of Tilburg and in 1981 wrote a thesis with the title “Professionalization and collective power” (in Dutch).

From 1978 until his part-time retirement in 2002 dr. Van der Krogt was associate professor in Public Management at the at the School of Management and Governance, University of Twente (the Netherlands). He was also director of the Public Management Training Center of this school. This unit is responsible for the part-time executive master of public management program.

From 2002 till 2004 he was part-time program manager at the School for Police Leadership of the Police Academy of the Netherlands. From November 2005 he is (part-time) program coordinator at KISS (Regional Knowledge Transfer Institute) in Enschede.

Since the foundation in 1999, dr. van der Krogt is the secretary-general of the European Association for Public Administration Accreditation (EAPAA). EAPAA is an association of universities and institutions that deliver academic bachelor and master programs in public administration, and was founded to create an European system of accreditation for such programs. Dr. van der Krogt served as international expert in several accreditation and benchmarking projects in different countries.